

BEST OF 20

2010 was a great year for gear, with hundreds of great products passing through Guitar Buyer HQ. But which were the best?

1 BEST ELECTRIC OVER £1,000

Winner: Vigier GV Rock
Reviewed in: Issue 105

We said: 'This really is one of those guitars that far exceeds your expectations. On first glance you really do think you know what you are going to get, but the GV simply surprises you at each turn. Both beautifully engineered and crafted, yet never feeling anything less than organic, the guitar is extremely comfortable to play and easy to get on with. From its great feel through to the never-less-than-impressive tones, the GV Rock is a refreshing revelation that is both versatile and 'unputdownable.'

PRS Guitars 25th Anniversary Custom 24
Reviewed in: Issue 103

We said: 'After 25 years, the Custom 24 has earned its position as a modern classic, and is one of the few designs that can stand along the likes of the Telecaster, Stratocaster, ES-355 and Les Paul.'

Gibson Johnny A. Signature Model
Reviewed in: Issue 108

We said: 'Represents a genuine collaboration between artist and manufacturer and is, in our opinion, one of the best new models that the company has come up with in a long time.'

1 BEST ELECTRIC UNDER £1,000

Winner: Vox SSC-33
Reviewed in: Issue 110

We said: 'Generally speaking, new guitar designs come and go without making a dent in the sales of more established brands. That said, we do hope that Vox is able to make a much bigger impact this time around, as these Series 33 guitars have a lot going for them. Features like the MaxConnect bridge and CoAxe pickups have been well thought out and expertly implemented, while their playability will easily match anything in this price range.'

Epiphone Les Paul Standard 1959
Reviewed in: Issue 105

We said: 'You can physically feel the BurstBuckers' fulsome growl rattling your chest cavity and giving your internal organs a good stirring; this is certainly a great-sounding guitar.'

Fender American Special Strat & Tele
Reviewed in: Issue 107

We said: 'There's little feeling of compromise or cutting corners here; these are solid, dependable guitars at an attractive price that turn in an impressive performance.'

G&L Tribute Rampage Jerry Cantrell
Reviewed in: Issue 107

We said: 'Rock, pure and unadulterated. If you are an Alice In Chains fan and want to cop the Cantrell vibe for a lower price, then you are going to want this guitar no matter what we say.'

1 BEST ACOUSTIC GUITAR

Winner: Baden A-style Reviewed in: Issue 107

We said: 'The Baden A-style is an impeccably put together and beautiful-sounding instrument which offers hand-built quality for a relatively modest price. Whatever your opinion of the minimalist and modern aesthetics, they sound every bit as classy as the classic acoustic guitars that we all covet and, for all but the most confirmed traditionalist, are highly recommended.'

Moon 0003 Reviewed in: Issue 104

We said: 'An interesting beast. At £1,600, it's incredibly affordable for a hand-built, luthier instrument. If you want a hand-built guitar, this is pretty much the entry level price, and the 0003 justifies it completely.'

Vintage V1200N Reviewed in: Issue 106

We said: 'The V1200N feels like another genuine step forward for Vintage - a sub-£400 guitar that looks like something considerably more expensive, with great playability to back it up.'

Walden Madera CD4040 Reviewed in: Issue 108

We said: 'It appears Walden has produced a guitar that allows you to do your bit for the planet without looking like you knit your own yoghurt. Best of all, that doesn't come at the cost of performance.'

1 BEST AMP

Winner: Lazy J J20
Reviewed in: Issue 106

We said: 'Easily one of the best amps being made in the UK today. Over two decades, Jesse Hoff has corrected perceived inadequacies in the Tweed Deluxe design but at the same time ensured that none of his additions get in the way of the thing that matters most – tone. And on this amp, it's nothing short of remarkable.'

Volt Over-drive Super RR
Reviewed in: Issue 104

We said: 'Geoff Pugh is keen to stress that he sees this head as a musical instrument in its own right. On the evidence of our own ears, we'd have to agree. Whoever they are, the future owners of this amp are guaranteed one thing: great tone for life.'

1 BEST FX

Winner: MXR Custom Shop '75 Vintage Phase 45
Reviewed in: Issue 107

We said: 'For the first time in this particular reviewer's career I can honestly say that as a player there is now a reissue that I would buy instead of an original. On top of how wonderful it sounds, at first glance even a seasoned MXR expert will still have to ask you 'is that an original?', the only clue being how new this unit looks.'
